Dry Salt Meat 6 1/2 cents a pound at Barnhouse's.

Let every Democrat turn out and vote Saturday.

With this issue the REGISTER completes its thirty-third year.

Remember that Ironton's 4th of July celebration is going to be a grand one.

Rev. Worley held services in the band pagoda in the courthouse yard Sunday afternoon.

One of the troops quartered at the range shipped four cars of horses to the barracks last Saturday.

The picnic at Arcadia last Saturday was fairly well attended and passed off very pleasantly; the dancing continued until Sunday morning.

Barney Murray, an employee at Schneider's quarry, Graniteville, was quite badly hurt by a stone falling on him Wednesday of last week.

Messrs. Jasper Burks of St. Francois county and Ed. Bork of Perry arrived in town Sunday evening, and are spending the week seeing the voters.

The man, woman or child who misses the Grand Parade in Ironton on the 4th, will miss one of the biggest things of the crowning year of the nineteenth century.

State Superintendent of Public Schools Carrington and President McDermott of the Cape Girardeau Normal addressed the county institute Wednesday afternoon.

The soldiers had a pay-day last Friday evening. A number of them were in town the following day speering and two or three became so obnoxious that they had to be arrested.

Wanted—A good delivery horse. Apply to T. S. Lopez & Sons.

S. I. Cole and Jesse M. Garrett of Elvins, St. Francois County, were before the U. S. Commissioner here Tuesday charged with selling liquor without paying the government tax. They will have a hearing June 29th.

Work on Pilot Knob is progressing very satisfactorily. The shaft is now over a hundred feet deep. The new washer is being placed in position and will be ready for use early in July. The washer has a capacity of about fifteen cars a day.

For the two largest and finest cauliflower's ever seen produced in this country we are indebted to James Robinson, the efficient and worthy gardener at "Valley Home." Mr. Robinson's gardens are as fair as one would want to see.

Capt. R. A. Collins of Piedmont is in town this week. The Captain paid this office a call Wednesday, and informed us that he will likely become a resident of the Valley at no far distant day. We extend to him a hearty welcome and will be glad to have him locate here.

Si Vaughn, the boss barber, wants the public to understand that he is still at the old stand willing to attend to all wants in the tonsorial line. Everything first-class and up-to-date in every particular. If you want a good shave, or an artistic haircut, a first-class shampoo call on Si Vaughn.

Mrs. H. Barnhouse of this city has just two more grandsons than she had last week. Her daughter, Mrs. Lou Morgan of Wateka, Ill., gave birth to a 9 lb. boy Monday, June 18th. The following day a vigorous son put in his appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barnhouse. All are doing well.

In this issue of the REGISTER will be found an advertisement of the Ironton Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of flour, bran, shipstuf, meal, etc., and dealers in grain. This institution is too well and favorably known to need words of commendation from any source. Give them your business and satisfaction is assured.

Among the REGISTER's visitors last week was Mrs. C. Kuhn of Marble Creek. Mrs. Kuhn has been a reader of this paper for a quarter of a century. She says that when she first subscribed for the paper, she had no knowledge of English and that all she knows of the language she has learned from reading the REGISTER.

A most creditable and enjoyable affair was the entertainment given under the direction of Miss Marshall at the Academy of Music on Tuesday evening of last week. The programme had been well selected and the rendition was superb. As an elocutionist Miss Marshall possesses unusual talent and her efforts were most generously applauded.

Mrs. Mary A. Miller, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. D. Hickey in Levensworth, Kansas, on Tuesday, June 12th, 1900, aged eighty-two years. The deceased was the relict of the late John A. Miller, who many years ago was a resident of Ironton. The funeral occurred Thursday from the residence of H. P. Miller in St. Louis.

Every citizen of the county, as well as of the Valley, should interest himself in the Band's projected celebration of the 4th. The Band is a public institution; every member sacrifices his time, money and energy toward its perfection, without desire for pecuniary return, and we are sure the public will heartily respond thereto by lending aid and presence to the coming Big Celebration.

One day last week, while sad and dreary, as we wended weak and weary across the unswamp floor, we heard at first a gentle tapping, tapping, then it became an earnest rapping, rapping at our sanctum door. "Come in!" we said, while we pondered, and in silence we still wondered, what for us could be in store, then the door bolt gently turning, in he walked, our cheeks were burning! thoughts of crimson gore! "Are you the man that does the writing?" "What will rhyme with this but fighting?" quickly thought we o'er and o'er. "Sir, we are," we gently told him, if he tried to beat us sore. Then you'll please to give me credit opposite that little debt for a dollar more. I like your paper and take it as long as you strive to make it as good as it was before." We jumped, he dodged, thus we missed him, or we surely would have kissed him, even if the boys did roar; so seldom treated in this manner we felt inclined to sing Hosannah. Only this and nothing more.—Ez.

Last Thursday evening the A. V. Cornet Band, in uniform, went over to the Arcadia College. The "boys" were cordially welcomed by Rev. L. C. West and made to feel at home. It had been intended to have the proceedings ad fresco, but the weather was unpropitious, and in consequence we were ushered into the spacious Recreation Hall, brilliantly lighted and elegantly decorated for the occasion. Here were gathered the good Sisters and their pupils, with a few invited guests—a fairer audience never greeted wandering minstrel, nor judged his efforts to please with greater favor. The pupils responded to the band's selections, from time to time, with song and instrument, and thus the evening passed. After the tympanic feast, the visitors were taken into the refectory where ice cream, cake, etc., were served. This concluded the proceedings—excepting a couple more band selections given outside, which were heartily if not deservedly applauded by unseen hands—and at a seemingly hour the wagonette departed, "loaded to the guards." The end comes to all things human, and pleasurable moments seem all too rare and brief, but memory will lengthen to the limit the enjoyment of this one evening plucked from the violetitudes and cares of fleeting life.

A fatal policy is to neglect a backache or other sign of kidney trouble. Foley's Kidney Cure is a sure remedy for Bright's disease, diabetes, and gravel. For sale by druggist.

The Arcadia Commencement.

The twenty-third annual commencement of the Ursuline Academy, Arcadia, Mo., occurred Monday afternoon, June 18th, 1900. The day was an ideal one and a large and appreciative audience witnessed the exercises. The spectators were by no means confined to the Valley, many of the adjacent towns being represented by large delegations. That it was a well-pleased audience anyone who was present can testify. Every feature of the most excellent programme was paid closest attention and the encores were hearty and frequent.

The large exhibition hall, always inviting, seemed especially pleasing on this occasion. House plants adorned the stage, several large fuchsia bushes in full bloom, contributing much to the scene. Bunting in gold and purple, the class colors, hung in graceful folds from the arches of the proscenium, surrounded in letters of gold by the class motto, "Fides Coronat Opus." No lavish display; just decoration sufficient to make the picture a pleasing one.

The programme was a musical and literary treat. A leading feature was "Adelaide," a historical drama of the tenth century in five acts. The drama is an interesting one and quite faithfully portrays the trials attending the Christian in the early days. It affords ample opportunity for the display of histrionic talent and many of the young ladies certainly acquitted themselves most handsomely, each showing special adaptability to the part assigned her.

The acts of the drama were interspersed with musical selections—vocal and instrumental—all from the classics and superbly rendered. Sufficient to say the programme was most admirable in all respects—selection, conception and rendition—reflecting credit alike on pupils and teachers. The year's graduate, Miss May Blaine of Piedmont, read a most interesting and excellently written essay—"An Idle Hour in My Grandfather's Library." The effort was most commendable, and evidenced thorough knowledge of the subject in hand. In concluding Miss Blaine made a few well-chosen remarks, reviewed the six years at school, paid a well merited tribute to the faithful and untiring teachers, spoke of the many pleasant recollections that ever hover about the alma mater, and then, "farewell."

At the conclusion of the exercises Rev. L. C. West awarded the medals and distributed the premiums. He was followed by Rev. Furlong, of New Madrid, who made an appropriate address to the teachers, students and visitors.

There were on display in the parlors some most lovely specimens of needle and art work, wrought by the young ladies during the year. The praise accorded these evidences of their skill was universal, and the lady visitors, more particularly, fairly feasted their eyes on the beauties spread before them.

So the twenty-third annual commencement of the Ursuline Academy was in every respect as complete and perfect a success as the staunchest friend of the institution could have wished. To the good sisters, the young ladies, and all concerned we tender our sincere congratulations!

Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get around to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain-Balm. I tried it and one-half of a 50-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends.—F. A. BABCOCK, Erie, Pa. It is for sale by druggist.

From Bellevue.
Ed. Register—Errare est humanum; hence I wish to make a correction. In my communication in last week's REGISTER when speaking of the proposed change of mail route from Bellevue, I unintentionally arranged the fact as follows: July 1st next the mail route from Bellevue to Iron Mountain will be discontinued, and instead be carried twice daily—fourteen trips a week—from Bellevue via Graniteville to Middlebrook and return. Mr. Frank Fitzpatrick has the contract for said service, and the consideration is $595.

The route from Bellevue via Maun and Beule to Montana is wholly independent of the first-named route. "Let facts be stated to a candid world."

The primary is near at hand, and the candidates are getting around pretty lively. We are singularly fortunate in having such good material for Representative; it will be hard to vote against either of the three. But it is hardly fair to pin the tag on Dr. Farrar, on account of the later road law; he cannot be solely responsible for the so-called law.

On Sunday last Mr. and Mrs. H. Latham visited us, bringing with them a nice lot of ice and an ice-cream freezer, etc. After dinner had fairly settled, and Mr. and Mrs. McGee and children and Master Charles Carter had come, then we speedily turned out two gallons of choice ice-cream, which we ate to our entire satisfaction.

I am informed that a company of mining experts from St. Louis have options on quite a number of farms, northwest of Bellevue proper. The option runs for one year at $60.00 per acre; if not closed within one year, then the company reserves the right to continue prospecting, first paying the parties concerned 5 per cent. interest on their land at the optioned price. I cannot give the names of all those who are interested in said transaction; but among them are the following: Thos. Marr, H. Latham, R. Williams, A. Townsend, Judge Phillips and Mr. Wallen. It is to be hoped that the company may find lead in paying quantity; and it does not require an expert mineralogist to see clearly that
